

LEGISLATION FOR PENSIONS IS DISCUSSED

MEETING HERE MONDAY EVENING SPONSORED BY THE AMERICAN LEGION

NOBLE JOHNSON, SPEAKER

Congressman From Fifth District Sets Forth Facts Regarding Last Pension Action By Congress

Pension legislation as enacted by congress during its past session, was explained by Noble Johnson, Fifth district representative, in a meeting held Monday evening at the court house. The meeting, sponsored by the Greencastle Post of the American Legion was largely attended, the assembly room being practically filled.

Mr. Johnson, introduced by Robert Huffman, local Legion Commander, made it distinctly understood at the outset that he was not here to make a political speech but only to explain as well as he could the different phases of the pension system. He went on to say that the government could never pay back in money what the United States owed its soldier heroes of the Civil War, the Spanish-American War and the World War.

He set forth the facts regarding pensions for veterans of each of these three great conflicts. Mr. Johnson read his figures and other facts so to be sure that they were absolutely accurate and his words were followed closely by every man and woman present.

Mr. Johnson praised the American Legion on its ideals. He urged that all eligible ex-soldiers join as it was an honor and a privilege to belong to this organization. He stated that "in unity there is strength" and in being members of the Legion, the World War veterans would be together and be better able to accomplish things. Mr. Johnson pointed out that certain faults in the pension bill will be remedied at the next session of Congress. He condemned the functioning of the Veterans' Bureau in no uncertain terms.

In conclusion, he stated that he would be glad to give any aid in his power to any Legion member seeking pension aid, if they would send their requests to him in Washington, D. C.

Before and after the meeting, Mr. Johnson renewed old acquaintances and talked with various ex-soldiers concerning their personal cases.

Prior to Mr. Johnson's talk, the Kiwanis club quartette sang three selections which were well received by the audience. The quartette is composed of Glen Lyon, Marshall Abrams, O. W. Hollowell and John Egan.

CONDITION OF MISS BIRCH IS STILL GRAVE

IN SEMI-CONSCIOUS CONDITION AT ROBERT LONG HOSPITAL IN INDIANAPOLIS

Condition of Miss Helen Birch, of Greencastle who was seriously injured Monday afternoon at Thirty-ninth and Illinois streets in Indianapolis, when she was struck by an automobile as she alighted from a street car, continued grave at the Robert Long Hospital Tuesday. She is in a semi-conscious condition.

Miss Birch suffered injuries to her head and body. According to physicians it will be several days before the seriousness of her injuries can be determined. It was feared she had suffered a fracture of the skull. Miss Birch was taken to the City Hospital following the accident and later was removed to the Robert W. Long hospital.

Miss Birch was enroute to Olivet, Mich., where she was to teach music in the public schools this year, when the accident occurred.

The driver of the car, John Eklund, 15, 3327 North Capitol avenue, was arrested by Lieut. Frank Owen of the police accident prevention bureau on charges of assault and battery, passing a street car while passengers are being unloaded and failure to have driver's license.

Miss Blue Called In Schroeder Case

FORMER GREENCASTLE GIRL AND JACK ALLEN OF CLAYTON TO TESTIFY

Continuing the investigation of the High School road torch murder mystery, the Marion county grand jury today will call two motorists who picked up Harold Herbert Schroeder of Mobile, Ala., accused of the murder of the man found burned to death in his automobile soon after the body was found in the flaming car, May 31.

The witnesses are Jack Allen of Clayton, former DePauw student, and Miss Ruby Blue of Indianapolis, former Greencastle girl.

The probe opened yesterday with the calling of Sheriff George L. Winkler, John Stump, detective, and Dr. Lawrence A. Lewis, deputy coroner.

Schroeder contends that he picked up a hitch-hiker and that the man met death accidentally when the Schroeder car ran into a ditch near Terre Haute. He told detectives that he returned to the High School road and burned the man's body because he thought he would be accused of murder. The investigation will continue several days. Several additional witnesses have been subpoenaed.

FIND BODY IN WABASH AT CLINTON

UNIDENTIFIED CORPSE REMOVED FROM RIVER AT NEAR NOON MONDAY

CLINTON, Sept. 9 (UP)—The body of an unidentified man, believed to be around 70 years of age, was found in the Wabash river at the Harry White farm, four miles north of here about noon Monday.

The man, apparently a farmer, was believed to have fallen into the deep water of the river and was unable to save himself. He was located when the body caught on the trout lines of fishermen who were rowing up the river.

Dr. C. M. Zink, coroner, and a First ambulance was rushed to the scene and the body was brought to Clinton. It was believed the body had been in the water but a short time—probably less than two hours.

VETERANS HOSPITAL SITE RECOMMENDED

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 9 (UP)—A 25-acre tract overlooking White River and adjoining the Municipal Gardens will be recommended to the Federal Hospitalization Board next week as the site for the Indianapolis United States Veterans Bureau Hospital.

This was learned today following an inspection trip made by Col. L. H. Tripp, construction chief of the Bureau, Mayor Reginald Sullivan and city officials, which included visits to three proposed sites for the $500,000 institution.

DIVER TRAPPED

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 9 (UP)—Six hundred rescuers battled today to stem the current of a suburban canal, which was crushing Nyk A. Danese, 62-year-old diver, trapped 22 feet below the surface.

A faint tug at a life line told rescuers that Danese was still alive, after more than 24 hours in the current's grip, wedged between pilings of a pumping station.

DONT STOP THE MARCH OF PROGRESS

Petitions are being circulated to be presented to the city council September 23, remonstrating against the purchase by the city of an airport.

It is known that some of the carriers of these petitions are misrepresenting facts. Statements are being made that the tax rate will be 40 cents per $100 taxables, while as a matter of fact the rate will be only 15 cents per $1,000 property valuation.

For instance on a $4,000 property valuation the total amount of taxes would be 60 cents per year.

This airport site, consisting of 214 acres, was purchased for $6,000, or about $28 per acre. Sixty acres will be used for the airport, leaving 154 acres, which the city can sell, lease or use for other purposes.

There are already two aviation companies which have started negotiations for the possible lease of this airport for aviation ground schools.

Should this land be leased, taxpayers would not even be required to pay 15 cents per $1,000 as the ground would be leased for an amount sufficient to take care of the carrying charges.

If you already have signed these petitions through misrepresentation, and desire to have your name removed, call the Chamber of Commerce, Phone 69, and request your name be taken off.

Additional facts will be given tomorrow.

POLICE KILL VAGRANT AT TERRE HAUTE

ALLEGED BANDIT OPENS FIRE ON OFFICERS; SLAIN AS RESULT

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 9 (UP)—A man who boasted he "would shoot the first cop that stopped him" was dead today, a target for several police bullets in a fight he was said to have started.

Thomas Navins, Jr., 23, Terre Haute was the alleged bandit who died a little more than an hour after he had made his boast.

Motor Officer Carl Bovenschulte was taken to the hospital after the brief battle last night suffering from a flesh wound in his thigh. His condition was not serious.

Bovenschulte, with Ray Thompson, were patrolling their section last night when they saw Navins walking with Robert McClain, 23, a cousin. The officers stopped the pair, knowing Navins was wanted at headquarters for questioning in connection with crimes committed in the northern part of the state.

As the policeman attempted to search the pair for weapons, Navins whirled and uncovered a revolver. He opened fire and it was returned by the officers.

Of the six shots fired by the officers, five struck Navins, one in the abdomen. He died at Union hospital a short time later.

McClain was held in jail charged with vagrancy. He will be questioned today in an effort to connect Navins with the activities of bandits who robbed motorists and sandwich stands south of the city over the week-end.

Street Fighting In Buenos Aires

STRICT ORDERS ISSUED BY NEW LEADER TO PREVENT MORE TROUBLE

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, (7 A. M. Tuesday) Sept. 9 (UP)—The government issued orders today for stern action to prevent recurrence of street fighting that broke out last night immediately after the inauguration of the revolutionary government by Gen. Jose E. Uriburu.

The celebration of ceremonies installing the new government was turned into a "reign of terror" by the well-timed plot of a small group apparently in sympathy with the deposed president Hipolito Irigoyen and by confusion that caused forces supporting the new administration to believe erroneously for a few hours that a counter-revolution had been started.

OFF FOR NEW YORK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (UP)—Two French aviators, Capt. Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte left here at 10:17 A. M. today for New York in the Question Mark, the plane in which they flew from Paris to New York.

RELIEF WORK GAINS IMPETUS IN WEST INDIES

AMERICAN RED CROSS OFFICIALS SPEED ACTIVITIES IN HURRICANE AREA

CAPITAL FACES PESTILENCE

Total Death Toll Believed Near 2,500. Total Number Of Injured About 14,000

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, Sept. 9 (UP)—The work of relief for thousands of sufferers in the Santo Domingo hurricane area was speeded up by officials of the American Red Cross.

The capital is faced by pestilence. The electric system was partially repaired last night and lights were available for the first time since the hurricane.

E. J. Swirt and other American Red Cross officials arrived late yesterday and immediately went into conference with President Rafael L. Trujillo, Captain Antonio Silva, Red Cross director from San Juan and others. The Red Cross food station was temporarily closed last night to prevent a mob of hungry survivors from raiding it.

The water supply was restored and aided greatly in the work of halting further deaths by disease.

The river mouth and harbor were still dangerous and landing of ships was difficult because of wreckage. The death toll continued to increase. It was certain that more than 2,000 were killed, officials said, and the total probably will pass 2,500. About 14,000 were injured, but only some 3,000 of them seriously.

STUDENTS SEND TRUNKS AHEAD FOR SCHOOL YEAR

Trunks were being piled high in front of the American Railway Express Company office on Vine street Tuesday, and truckmen are working at top speed hauling them to rooming houses of students who are returning for the fall term at DePauw University.

Virtually all the students arrive by auto or bus and send their trunks by express. Many arrived in family cars accompanied by parents and other relatives, while others hitch-hike their way to Greencastle.

Extra workmen are engaged in handling the enormous number of trunks arriving on every train.

Many students arrived in Greencastle Monday and Tuesday to open fraternity and sorority houses while others were looking for rooms for the school year. Registration of freshmen starts Wednesday while upper classmen will register the last of the week.

MARTIAL LAW ACTION LOOMS IN LOUISIANA

PRIMARY ELECTION SITUATION TENSE GOVERNOR LONG AFTER "SQUARE DEAL"

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 9 (UP)—The threat of martial law created a tense situation here today as Louisiana voted in the primary to determine whether Governor Huey P. Long or Senator Joseph Ransdell should be the Democratic nominee for United States senator.

Several companies of the national guard were mobilized at Jackson barracks, including a hospital unit and infantry and artillery detachments. The city's newspapers, all of which have been active in attacking Long during the campaign, had their plants guarded.

Less than 12 hours before the polls were to open Long had said "If I don't get a straight deal out of New Orleans police and city administration, I am going to take drastic steps." It was thought that by "drastic steps" the governor meant he would place the city under martial law.

Long's campaign, during which bitter attacks were made on both sides and the governor accused of kidnapping two witnesses in a secret state highway investigation, was featured yesterday by his being punched on the chin by a reporter, whom he struck back.

Congressman Wallace H. White, Jr., of Lewiston, Republican, was elected to the United States Senate after 11 years' service in the lower house of Congress, defeating Frank H. Haskell, Portland attorney and Democrat, by a decisive majority.

William Tudor Gardiner, Maine's Republican governor, was re-elected over Edward C. Morgan, Jr., of Rockland, Democrat, running only a few thousand votes behind White.

FIREMEN HERE GET CHALLENGE FOR WATER TILT

CRAWFORDSVILLE FIRE FIGHTERS WANT TO DO BATTLE WITH GREENCASTLE

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Sept. 9 (UP)—Lebanon has accepted the challenge of Crawfordville's fire department to a water fight as a feature of the Fall Opening which will be held on Sept. 24, 25, 26, and 27, according to an announcement by John McCabe, head of the committee in charge of the affair.

Mr. McCabe also announced that in all probabilities Greencastle would send a team of firemen here for the fight. Preliminary arrangements were made last week over the telephone and McCabe will finish the negotiations when he visits the boys down the Monon later this week.

The fight according to present arrangements, will be held at the corner of Market and Green streets on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 25, at 2:30 o'clock. Each team will consist of three members who will attempt to wash their rivals off the street. Fall pressure will be used.

The battle is started with the streams of water shooting in the air. At a signal from the referee, the streams are lowered and played on the opposing team. The team which is able to roll its opponents back across a line which will be drawn on the pavement will be the winner.

Gang Guns Take Another Victim

CHICAGO HOODLUM SHOT FIVE TIMES THROUGH HEAD BY SLAYERS

CHICAGO, Sept. 9, (UP)—Peter Nicastro, 23, arrested many times but never convicted of a crime, was shot four times through the head and tossed from a speeding automobile into a street in the heart of the Ghetto West Side gang stronghold early today. He died 15 minutes later.

All the bullets were fired into Nicastro's head from close range, each leaving powder burns. Scatches on his shoes indicated he had fought with the men who took him on his "ride", and that they had dragged him into the car.

Police said Nicastro was a member of the notorious "Five" gang and that they long had regarded him as being a bootlegger.

AL CAPONE FORMS HUGE SYNDICATE

NOTED CHICAGO RACKETEER TAKES FORMER ENEMIES INTO PARTNERSHIP

"ALL FOR AL, AND AL FOR ALL"

Form Co-Operative Organization To Control Beer And Vice Industries Of Windy City

(Copyright 1930 by United Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 9 (UP)—"Scarface" Al Capone has taken his former rivals into partnership with himself in a giant co-operative organization to control the beer, vice and gambling industries in Chicago and Cook Co.

From sources close to the underworld it was learned today that this is the gang chief's plan to put beer running and illegal resorts back on a paying basis. At the same time Capone hopes to eliminate many of the gang murders which have concentrated unwanted attention on gang operations.

Police activity resulting from the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, and the expose of the slain Jack Zuta's connections with public men, has caused an alarming depression in gang revenue. Returning from summer resort communities where they usually operate during hot weather, gang leaders found Chicago all but closed. New police captains were on duty in many wards. Peace officers had become difficult to deal with.

Capone's answer was to complete an "all for Al and Al for All" organization which he has had in mind ever since his release from jail in Philadelphia last spring. As it is being put into operation now, however, the scheme embraces several departures from the original plan.

Capone himself will remain far enough in the back ground to be safe. Most of the actual work will be done by a "cabinet" of department heads made up in the main of Capone's former enemies. He will live at his brother's home in Cicero and spend only a small amount of time at his Lexington Headquarters in Chicago.

As tentatively selected the cabinet will include:

Secretaries of beer: manufacturing, Joe Saltis, Delivery—Klondike O'Donnell. Both of these men have been notorious Capone enemies in the past. Saltis has been dominant on the South Side and O'Donnell on the West Side. Their activities have been confined largely to beer running and it is understood that Capone is willing that they continue in that line, but on a league instead of enemies.

Secretaries of War: Ted Sweeney and Jack Rizzuto. Sweeney, until recently has been identified with the Northern Zito-Jesse gang, now prominently featured. Rizzuto has been known as a Capone associate for years. Secretary of Gambling: Ralph Capone, brother of Al. Rizzuto was the "Shin" (Shoney) Capone, gambling resort, and is familiar with the so-called slot-machine racket. He also owns a string of race horses and is believed to have an interest in many of the downtown bookmaking offices.

MAN GRILLED BY POLICE IN GIRL'S DEATH

Stamfer, who formerly worked in the Appel home, called upon Calkins tonight after her child State Farm named and asked if she had had anything.

"Don't worry, the girl which she in with you tomorrow," he was quoted as saying.

The following day Stamfer's body was found. Stamfer was charged with murder. Calkins ordered Stamfer's arrest last night, but Stamfer made a statement after questioning that the man for six hours Stamfer previously had been questioned and released.

The man and other persons who were in the Appel home at the time of the death are being questioned.

TO THE PUBLIC

There are some who are under the impression that the World War veteran, who died last Thursday in the Robert W. Long hospital at Indianapolis, was refused admittance in our county hospital.

After investigating this I will say that no effort was ever made to get the veteran in the local hospital. Papers were filled out and sent to the Veterans' Bureau at Indianapolis by Wilbur Donner, American Legion service officer, to get the vet in a government hospital, and it was the apparent shameful delay of this bureau that necessitated the veteran being sent to the Robert Long hospital as a last resort.

No blame can be attached in any way to the local hospital or the board of directors as I am sure if the request had been made, the hospital here would have admitted him.

ROBERT HUFFMAN, Commander Greencastle Post 58, American Legion.

KONJOLA WON GRATITUDE OF HAPPY LADY

"I HOPE MY EXPERIENCE WITH THIS MEDICINE WILL HELP
OTHERS GAIN HEALTH"

MRS. MARTHA E. BLACK

"There is nothing unusual about my desire to tell others about Konjola," said Mrs. Martha E. Black, 427 Euclid Ave., Indianapolis, "and I hope my experiences will help others to regain their health. I suffered terribly from kidney, liver and bowel troubles. I was forced to rise as often as six times nightly and I had a constant pain across my back. Constipation filled my system with poisons, my liver was sluggish and I became very nervous.

"I began to feel better soon after I began taking Konjola. This was the first medicine to help me. Seven bottles of this medicine made an end of my health troubles and I now feel fine. That was three years ago and not one of my ailments has returned to this day. I occasionally take a few doses of Konjola to keep myself in good health."

Taken after meals over a six to eight week period, Konjola has proven America's most popular medicine for ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

Konjola is sold in Greencastle, Ind., at the Owl drug store, 14 west Washington street, and at Flenors' drug store No. 2 Washington street, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

W. C. T. U. Names

New Officers

The W. C. T. U. held a well attended meeting yesterday at the Presbyterian church. The devotions were most helpful as given by Mrs. Nichols.

The business was omitted with the exception of the report of the nominating committee which was as follows: President, Mrs. George Taylor; 1st vice-pres., Mrs. H. B. Gough; 2nd vice-pres., Mrs. B. H. Bruner; secretary, Mrs. L. H. Dirks; treasurer, Mrs. John Gray.

The speaker was then introduced. She was Miss Rowena Shaner of Missouri, national lecturer and organizer for the W. C. T. U. She proved to be an eloquent and forceful speaker and those who missed hearing her missed a treat. She spoke in a complimentary manner of Indiana and emphasized the fact that we must allow the eighteenth amendment to be taken from the constitution or it might crumble. She said that if we allow the old-time liquor traffic to come back it will take fifty years to restore law and order. As a Democrat, she urged support of President Hoover and his enforcement effort, urged upholding of the temperance cause in every way.

ISLE OF ESCAPE

Copyright 1929, Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.
Based on the Warner Bros. motion picture and the novel by Jack McLaren of the same title.

SYNOPSIS
Having fled to a South Sea island from Stella Blackney's brutal husband, she and David Wade carry on a prosperous trade with the natives. While the ship is gone with their first cargo, David and Stella quarrel about Moira, a half-caste girl living with them since her father's death. She learns that David and Stella are not married and tells Stella she intends to win David. In despair, Stella enters an oceanic boat and is carried out to sea. David repents and asks Moira to lend him her schooner to search. Moira refuses unless he marries her.

It showed on the curve of the sea, far away, a scarcely discernible speck. Wade stared at it. That speck was the most significant thing in the world. It was the world itself.

"The cutter!" he echoed.
"Might be they picked her up!" cried Lo-oru, voicing the thought that was his, but which he scarcely dared to utter.
Wade sent to the house for his binoculars; and for an hour he stood there on the beach, watching the speck resolve with exasperating slowness into mast and sail and the white streak of a hull, the binoculars to his eyes the while, scanning the deck as it grew visible for sign of the white of a dress, and seeing only the brown of the crew-boys' backs. And, when at last the craft had threaded the passage through the reefs and swung up to the anchorage at the lagoon, he boarded one of the canoes in which the villagers were impatiently putting off, and sidestepped alongside.

"I'll make you happy, David! You are my mate!"

Dolobe's fuzzy head looked down at him over the rail. The crew were handling the descended sails and crying messages and greetings to their friends.
"A bad thing has happened, master!" said Dolobe excitedly.
Wade scrambled up the side.
"Have you found her?" he projected the words rather than spoke them.

"Very nearly they caught us!" Dolobe went on in his excited way, apparently not having heard Wade's question, or, having heard it, not understanding it. "We stopped three days at Tema. Three days, that all; and then we started to come back. And half-way we ran right into them. Twenty canoes—war canoes; and every one got might be fifty man, war-men with plenty arrows and spears, and their faces all painted—"

"Damn it!" Wade put in. "Why can't you answer me? Did you see anything of the sinabada? Did you?"

Dolobe shook his head and for a moment abandoned the tale of his adventure in order to stare at the white man perplexedly.
"Not see her," he said. "What for we should see her?"

"She is out there somewhere in a canoe."
The native shook his head again. "The only canoe we have seen is them war-canoes."

He went on with an involved and circumlocutory account of how the canoes came still closer and of how fights of spears came quivering in among the crew, Wade scarcely heard him.

"So, at last we turned and got the wind behind us, and sail back quick for Tema," Dolobe was saying. "And very soon we leave them canoes behind."

Then he collected his wits. The white man had, after all, improved the situation considerably, he said to himself. He was now independent of Moira. He was turned to Dolobe. The native was finishing his tale:
"They are the Umus, the worst

Peru Kiwanis club.

Ogden told the audience that if people demand clean government they can get it and pleaded for a revolt against the criminal and lawless elements.

"If men in my party, or in your party, betray their trust and become even the weakest link in the chain of organized crime, they should no longer be favored or kept in positions of authority," he said.

"Law and order thrive in that community where public sentiment is for law and order. No state can have better law and order than the people of that state desire. A community must cultivate them if it would reap them. There is crime and sin and corruption in a community because the people either through choice or indifference are willing to stand for it."

The attorney general pleaded emphatically for the selection of honest, sincere men to public office. "If we do not elect competent men, free from the corrupting influence or fear and favor, it is our own fault," he said.

Ogden closed with a plea for cleanliness in government and for a determined and constant fight against graft and corruption.

VONCASTLE

Newest Fox Musical "One Mad Kiss" Big, Distinctive Features Don Jose Mojica, Grand Opera Tenor, Billie Dove Tonight In "A Notorious Affair"

William Fox, who has held a position of unquestioned supremacy in the production of audible pictures since the sensational advent of "In Old Arizona", now presents as his latest offering, another distinctive triumph "One Mad Kiss", a musical romance of Old Spain, which plays Wednesday and Thursday nights at the Voncastle Theatre.

This production serves to introduce to the screen a scintillating new star, Don Jose Mojica. He is the answer to the cry of film fandom for new faces to a superlative degree. He has a gorgeous lyric tenor voice, magnetic personality and good looks that establish him as perhaps the handsomest man on the screen today.

Until recently a star of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, Mojica finds little difficulty with the score of his first picture. He sings his numerous songs in a way that brings exceptional appreciation and if encores were possible in the audible screen he would be brought back many times.

Mona Maris is delightful in the role of a beautiful Spanish dancer. She displays rare terpsichorean ability and also sings in a mezzo soprano voice that has great appeal, undoubtedly due to the fine hand of her director, Marcel Silver.

Tom Patricola scores heavily as the ragamuffin, an eccentric dancer, he makes the most of his one opportunity in this picture to the accompaniment of "Monkey on a Stick", sung by Mojica. Antonia Moreno also reveals unusual ability in the role of a dictator.

There are a dozen songs, including several typical Spanish numbers written by Mojica and Troy Sanders. Songs which seem certain of popularity are "One Man Kiss," "Oh! Where Are You" and "Behind the Mask." Added to the Voncastle's Wednesday-Thursday Bill will be an all-talking comedy featuring James Lucille he explained. "As a matter of fact, most of the disturbances south of the Yangtze come from peasant uprisings, because the farmers have been so badly treated that they can endure it no longer.

The few genuine Communist armies in the south do not number more than a few thousand men, Chen said, and an effective government could suppress them in a few weeks.

"All factions of the Kuomintang, who are now gathered in Peiping, feel that the foundations of the government at Nanking are not sound, for which reason a complete reorganization is necessary. When this has been accomplished, the government can set to work upon constructive measures."

Chen said that he understands some of the most important party leaders at Nanking has sent delegates to Marshal Yen Hsi-shan, promising support of the reorganized government if General Chiang Kai-shek is overthrown.

BRAZIL POLICE HOLD BAD CHECK ARTIST

Another rubber check artist came to town yesterday and landed in the clutches of the police before he had a chance to get out of town. The latest offender gave the name of Wilford Brown, aged 25, of Washington, D. C.

Brown is traveling about the country in a Chevrolet car and needing a new tire and not being very flush in funds he purchased one at the Mace Tire Service shop, giving a check for $9.65 in payment. The check was drawn on the Davis Trust Co. by Charles Ross and in favor of Brown. Mr. Mace suspected from Brown's actions that the check was bad but accepted it and then followed the stranger down the street and called the police. Brown was taken into custody just as he was about to enter his car and drive off.

When taken to police headquarters Brown admitted that the check was no good and confessed that he passed the bad check because he needed a new tire and was about broke. He said he had $700 when he left Washington two months ago and had been driving about the country until he spent all his money. He was bound over to the Clay circuit court, going to jail in default of $500 bond.—Brazil Times.

Cleveland Will Try Radio Plan Of Education

NEW SYSTEM WILL ENABLE ONE TEACHER TO LECTURE TO LARGE CLASS

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 8 (UP) — A new system of instruction, by which one teacher will handle a class of as many as 250 pupils, will be tried out this fall in a local high school. If the experiment proves successful, the system will be adopted in all Cleveland public high schools.

Under the proposed plan, the number of teachers needed in the city is reduced. One instructor can teach eight or ten times as many pupils as under the old system of group instruction. This will enable the board of education to hire special teachers to help in reference work and to give special attention to delinquent students.

The new system is similar to the lecture plan used in universities. The lectures are to be broadcast to students gathered in one large class room. Illustrated films and slides also are to be used. The experiment is to begin with lectures in ancient history, medieval history, English and science, according to school officials.

A rigid system of checking results will be used and classes will be taught only by instructors who have had special training for the work.

Montana's Only Chinese Cowboy In Retirement

GEORGE TAYLOR, ADOPTED RANCHER, ONCE FOUGHT INDIAN RUSTLERS

CUT BANK, Mont., Sept. 8 (UP)—Only a fair brand rider but a big at driving a four-horse team was Taylor, the only Chinese cowboy the annals of Montana, who was put away the black snake whip in his garden hoe on his little ranch near Taylor's Chinese name was forgotten when he was adopted in 1855 by F. Taylor, owner of a big cattle outfit known as the S. T. brand, near Helena.

The boy had been taken to Helena from China by his mother who died that year, leaving the year old stranded.

The wealthy rancher sent the through school and then put his work on the ranch as a cowboy.

While still in his twenties, Taylor entrusted with a drive of 1,000 from Helena to Choteau, at that time the agency of the Blackfoot Indians.

The outfit was encamped for night at the present site of Creek. A band of a dozen Black who had jumped the reservation steal horses took every horse out drive during the night.

Taylor and two of his cowboys, Louis Morgan and Jim Fisher, set on the marauder's trail about 1000, overtook the Indians, shot and secured two of them and recovered the horses.

Young Taylor then followed the roundup for ten years. He was known as a most dependable teamster the days when the prairie driver paid his way by landmarks, frequently crossing deep coulees and washes.

All of the countless adventures of the early west were Taylor's until he settled down to stock ranching in 1878. He had been clawed by a grizzly on a hunting expedition, came from the swollen waters of the Missouri river and another time had the bone of his hat perforated in the shooting up of a saloon.

While spending the night in a cabin in the Sun River country with small hunting party, Taylor and his friends were awakened by a grating of the logs in the cabin. The party found a herd of buffalo rubbing and jostling for an opportunity to scratch themselves on the rough logs.

The cabin swayed alarmingly until the buffalo were stampeded by shots in the air and the barking of the dogs.

Taylor took up stock ranching on a small scale not far from the present Cut Bank highway. He once owned several hundred cattle and sheep, married a young woman of Swedish ancestry and their ranch home became one of the show places of the locality. He has three sons living, engaged in sheep ranching and a daughter, a sailor in the United States Navy.

Since his wife's death, Taylor has been living at Cut Bank. He is 80 years old.
